NEWS AND EVENTS

In Memory of John Phillip "Phil" Foil

September 11, 1967 - August 3, 2014

The Department of Community Affairs family mourns the passing of our good friend and colleague, Phil Foil. Phil's loss will be felt by all of us at DCA and many colleagues around Georgia, the state that Phil loved so much.

Phil served Georgia as the Special Assistant to the Commissioner, Chief Operating Officer, and Deputy Commissioner at the Department of Community Affairs; and as Executive Director of the Georgia Environmental Finance Authority. He served on the Board of Directors and as Chairman of the Board for the Georgia Chapter of the ALS Association, and volunteered as the athletic director and basketball coach for the Greater Gwinnett Christian Barons girls' teams.

His community and professional service are a testament to the person Phil strove to be, but they pale in comparison to his dedication to his wife Paula and his daughters Ashley and Elizabeth. His family was Phil's most important focus, and he was always quick to share a story about one or all of them. A graduate of the University of Georgia Terry College of Business, Phil was an avid Bulldog, cheering for every sports team that represented the University, but especially the football team.

"We will remember Phil as he lived," said Commissioner Corbin, "as a kind, gentle, energetic man who loved us all dearly and who exemplified true leadership, not just here at DCA, but throughout his career and, indeed, his life. Phil was an inspiring role model for us all. While his time on earth was much too short, we were privileged to have him with us for so much of that time. We're so grateful for the many lessons that he taught us to take forth into our own lives - lessons of humility, kindness and friendliness."
Georgia's Neighborhood Stabilization Program: A National Model

Managed by the Department of Community Affairs, The Neighborhood Stabilization Program (NSP1 and NSP3) (HUD-funded programs) has invested $121 million through 22 communities to help stabilize Georgia’s communities during the worst of the recession and beyond.

Local governments have used NSP funds to create 1,700 affordable housing units which have since been purchased or rented by low-, moderate-, and middle-income families. Each local program uses a variety of strategies to meet their specific needs, including purchasing and rehabilitating single-family homes, constructing multifamily developments, and providing home buyer assistance to eligible purchasers.

Georgia’s NSP program has been ranked consistently in the top two among all 50 states, and have provided such excellent service that HUD staff will share DCA’s NSP program measures as best practices for use among our other 49 states.

The Georgia Downtown Renaissance Act

Commissioner Gretchen Corbin accepts a copy of the Georgia Downtown Renaissance Act, including Governor Deal's signature pen, from Boyd Austin of the Georgia Municipal Association.

Austin Boyd, Mayor of Dallas and 3rd Vice President of the Georgia Municipal Association (GMA), presented Commissioner Gretchen Corbin with a framed copy of the Georgia Downtown Renaissance Act at the August board meeting. Governor Deal signed the act March 26, 2014. The act provides for state tax credits for downtown investments and will be another tool for cities across Georgia to use to attract housing, businesses and jobs.

"As the state’s community development agency, we are pleased that the Renaissance Act provides us with the ability to extend even more resources toward protecting the heart and soul of our communities: Georgia’s beautiful and unique downtowns," said DCA Commissioner Gretchen Corbin. "Programs like this are key to community development: they build up the private sector, protect historic resources through preservation and grow commerce in the central business districts of our state."

Gov. Deal Announces AmeriCorps Grants for Georgia Communities

Gov. Nathan Deal announced $3,437,917 in AmeriCorps funding from the Corporation for National and Community Service (CNCS) to engage 690 AmeriCorps members with 15 nonprofit organizations and meet education, health, environmental and other local needs in Georgia.

"Service and volunteerism are key ingredients to increasing the vitality and competitiveness of our local communities," said Deal. "These grants will enable AmeriCorps members to better meet local needs, leaving a positive and lasting impact on the state."

The grants will support AmeriCorps members who will tackle critical challenges in Georgia by tutoring and mentoring youth, facilitating health education programs and preserving natural resources.
Congratulations to DCA’s NSP team!

Final Reminder!

GICH Applications Due September 5

The Georgia Initiative for Community Housing (GICH) is now accepting applications for participation in the three-year program. Applications are available on the GICH website and are due by September 5.

Vibrant neighborhoods with safe, decent and affordable housing are essential to any community’s economic vitality. Since 2004, the Georgia Initiative for Community Housing, a partnership of the Georgia Department of Community Affairs, the Georgia Municipal Association, and the University of Georgia Housing and Demographics Research Center, has been helping communities across Georgia address housing and community development needs.

This program provides a platform for thinking of creative solutions and networking ideas with housing professionals, city officials and staff, as well as community volunteers from across the state.
