A HELPING HAND

HOUSING OPPORTUNITIES FOR PERSONS WITH AIDS (HOPWA)
December 1st marks World AIDS Day, a day to reflect on lives lost and progress made in the disease prevention and cure. Due to the stigma associated with having the virus, people diagnosed with HIV and AIDS may face barriers to stable and affordable housing. Click here to learn about what housing resources DCA can offer people in Georgia affected by HIV and AIDS.

COMPLIANCE CORNER

COMPLIANCE Q&A SPECIAL
For the remainder of the year, each Blast will feature a few responses to questions and hypotheticals that are currently trending in our industry.

QUESTION #1:
What should the management company show in the file when there is a couple that was recently married, they are both students, and the tax return has not been filed, and they claim to be exempt from full time student status?
If the couple is married and they are income qualified then they qualify to live in the program as full time students, because they have met an exemption. Remember, for purposes of a DCA audit, determine whether the couple is eligible to file a joint tax return at the time of qualification. There is no regulation requiring verification of a joint tax filing at the time of the initial qualification or at recertification.

QUESTION #2
When a woman claims her pregnancy as a member of the household and then the pregnancy results in a miscarriage, can the woman be considered over-income due to her no longer having a child at the time she applied/was qualified?
If the woman and her family income qualified at initial certification then the household is considered qualified until recertification.

QUESTION #3
If a woman applies, is denied due to poor check writing history (poor credit), and she then discloses that she was forced to write checks by an abusive boyfriend, how can a leasing agent ensure that they are properly documenting the file to show VAWA protections?
Property management companies should verify through documentation that the tenant was forced to write checks by her boyfriend. The management company should give the tenant VAWA Notice of Occupancy Rights (form 5380) and the VAWA Certification (form 5382) to complete and sign. Property management companies should ensure that victims files are kept confidential.

DON’T FORGET TO REMEMBER. . .

WORLD AIDS DAY
DCA recognizes World Aids Day, December 1, 2018, with a special luncheon and a memorial poster to honor friends and family that have lost their lives to AIDS.
