COMPLIANCE SPOTLIGHT

Friendly Reminder
Property managers and on-site staff should first consult with their internal Compliance department prior to reaching out to DCA with questions. It is the owner’s responsibility to create policy and procedures for screening and processing applications and selecting qualified tenants according to program requirements. DCA does not qualify or approve tenants and cannot offer guidance on management policies, including lease or house rules. The owner would need to consult with an industry consultant for specific questions regarding income certifications and processing tenant files.

Featured Compliance Q&A
Q: During recertification, is the Under $5000 Asset Certification form required?

A: The asset information must be obtained at the time of application or recertification. Third-party verification of assets is required when the combined value of assets exceeds $5,000. An owner may satisfy the third-party documentation requirement for a tenant’s income from assets if the tenant submits to the owner a signed statement that the value of the combined assets is less than $5,000. The Under $5000 Asset Certification form may be used for this purpose.
