“Community Participation Program” means the portion of the comprehensive plan that describes the local government’s program for insuring meaningful public and stakeholder involvement in the preparation of the Community Agenda portion of the plan. According to local planning requirements of the Georgia Department of Community Affairs, the community participation program is prepared in conjunction with the “community assessment” part of the comprehensive plan, then submitted along with the community assessment, after public hearing, for regional and state review (see “review process” below).

There are three required components of the community participation program:

(a) Identification of Stakeholders
(b) Identification of Participation Techniques
(c) Schedule for Completion of the Community Agenda

Objective

The program seeks to obtain meaningful involvement of stakeholders and the general public in the preparation of the comprehensive plan. This community participation program describes Jackson County’s strategies for ensuring meaningful public and stakeholder involvement in the preparation of the Community Agenda portion of the comprehensive plan. It is important to emphasize here that this means little if any active involvement in preparing and conducting the “community assessment” part of the plan, other than what is obtained through the required public hearing for the community participation program and the community assessment.

Review Process

The community participation program is submitted along with the Community Assessment to the Northeast Georgia Regional Development Center (RDC) (now Regional Commission) for review, after holding a public hearing. Within seven (7) days of receipt, the RDC will determine whether the Community Participation Program meets or does not meet the standard of completeness as determined by the Department of Community Affairs (DCA). Upon determination of completeness, the RDC transmits the participation program to DCA. DCA will review the program for its adequacy in identifying specific mechanisms to ensure meaningful involvement of the community in the development of the Community Agenda. DCA will transmit a complete report of its findings and recommendations for addressing such findings to the RDC for inclusion in its Report of Findings and Recommendations.

Publication of the Approved Program and Community Assessment

Once reviewed, the Community Participation Program and Community Assessment must be publicized by the local government for public information. This requirement may be met by providing notice in a local newspaper of general circulation identifying where complete copies of the Community Assessment and Community Participation Program may be reviewed.
Stakeholders Suggested in the State Planning Recommendations and their Applicability in Jackson County

The State Planning Recommendations provide a list of almost fifty suggested stakeholders. For simplicity, they have been grouped into like or similar interests below – along with comments as to their applicability in Jackson County. To involve these interests, many of these groups are expected to be formally represented on the comprehensive plan steering committee – via individual appointments by the Jackson County Board of Commissioners. For others not formally represented on the committee, through a media release, individual businesses will be invited to submit e-mail addresses to receive information and regular updates to be posted on the county’s comprehensive planning web page. Individual business may be invited or may request stakeholder interviews.

List of Stakeholders and Persons to Receive Communications

Defined broadly, a stakeholder is anyone who has a stake in an outcome of the comprehensive planning process. Based on the suggestions in the State Planning Recommendations, an initial list of stakeholders has been identified and compiled by the county’s planning consultant (attached to this program) and refined by the Jackson County Department of Public Development. A second list, those who should receive meeting notices and other correspondence, is also provided.

Identification of Participation Techniques

During the process of preparing a work scope, the consultants considered various community participation techniques. The work scope was written to meet the county’s specific needs for public involvement while also considering budget limitations. The following techniques were considered and as applicable included in the Community Participation Program.

PUBLIC INPUT RECEIVED ON THE MAJOR ROADS PLAN

Jackson County obtained stakeholder input in the early stages of the data collection phase for the Countywide Roads Plan through the establishment of a Focus Group. Each of the five Commissioners appointed five members of the public to serve on the Focus Group for input as to the identification and prioritization of current roadway concerns and issues. This input was solicited using a Nominal Group Technique over the course of three meetings (Source: Moreland Altobelli Associates, Inc., Countywide Roads Plan 2009 Draft).

The first meeting was held on December 18, 2008 in the auditorium of the Jackson County Administrative Offices located in the City of Jefferson. During that meeting, the Focus Group was instructed as to the basic elements comprising the existing road system, and then the Focus Group prepared a list of their major concerns or issues associated with the roads within the county. During the 2nd meeting of the Focus Group held on January 15, 2009, each member rated the priority of each of the identified concerns and issues. The individual priorities were tabulated and ranked into quartiles in order to establish the relative priorities of all of the identified concern and issues. The final meeting of the Focus Group was conducted on March 3, 2009, wherein the results of the process were presented to the members for their review and concurrence (Source: Moreland Altobelli Associates, Inc., Countywide Roads Plan 2009 Draft).

Stakeholder input was also solicited via a written questionnaire that was mailed to the Mayors of each of the nine municipalities within Jackson County. Upon receipt of the completed questionnaires, the supplied information was analyzed and summarized for further discussion with municipal representatives through a series of meetings with representatives of each of the nine cities. A joint meeting was held for those cities in the Quad Cities, and a separate meeting with the officials in Braselton, and another separate meeting with the city officials in Commerce (Source: Moreland Altobelli Associates, Inc., Countywide Roads Plan 2009 Draft).
